GENERAL NEWS.

The Yellow Fever.

MEMPHIS, July 29.—Six new cases were reported to the board of health this morning. Among the number are S. A. Hatcher, of R. L. Cochran, & Co., Maria Lanahan, Ed. Rosenheim, and Tony Botto.

Late last night, a messenger arrived from Raleigh, Tenn., for a nurse to attend Dora, the daughter of Chief of Police Athy, who was reported down with the fever.

Col. Cameron, with his detail of colored soldiers, took quiet possession of the grounds that had been selected for the establishment of a camp, and by six o'clock this morning, had one hundred and twenty-five tents erected. The first train with refugees will leave this afternoon at five o'clock. The policy of the authorities is to furnish rations only to those who are encamped, and will be strictly observed. All mail matter leaving this city is thoroughly disinfected under the personal supervision of the inspecting officers of the national board of health. The weather remains sultry.

WASHINGTON, July 29. The executive committee of the national board of health has issued a circular on infection. It advises thorough scrubbing and moist cleaning, to be followed by the fumes of burning sulphur at the rate of eighteen ounces to one thousand cubic feet of space to be disinfected.

MEMPHIS, July 29.—Two more cases were reported to the board of health this afternoon. Four deaths from yellow fever have been reported by the undertakers. Ada Hicks, colored, Easter Otey, colored, Bridget Tommy and John Tommy, the two last were never reported as having yellow fever, neither did the burial certificates have the signature of the attending paysician; but as both died within two hours of each other, and had the black vomit just previous to dissolution, it was presumed by the undertakers that they died of yellow fever. A colored man named C. Wiggain also died today. He had no physician, and a member of the Howard Association whose attention was called to the death had him buried, and signed the certificate of yellow fever. The board of health however refused to recognize the signature, and classed the death as unknown. About fifty people went down to the camp this afternoon. The weather has greatly interfered with the removal of the poor. The camp has been named Camp Marks, in honor of the governor. The Howard Association to day assigned ten additional nurses to duty. An aged negro named Billy McDonald, who has been left in charge of Mrs. Allen's residence, near the north gate of Elmwood Cemetery, was found dead this morning. Some unknown party murdered him. No clue to the cause or assassin. Samuel A. Hatcher is reported in a critical condition to-night.

NEW ORLEANS, July 29. No cases are reported in the city. A little child at 105 Bourbourn street, brought here sick Sunday night from Morgan City, has the black vomit, and will die. The Morgan City authorities sent the child and parents to this city.

Montgomery, Ala., and Vicksburg, Miss., established a quarantine against New Orleans in consequence of possible interference from local quarantine.

ST. LOUIS, July 29. Lizzie Brady, a little child of Mrs. Brady, from Memphis, died of yellow fever at the quarantine hospital this afternoon. No new cases are developed there yet. Jno. C. Gwathney, clerk of the steamer Coahoma, has been released from the quarantine hospital, and is now in the city.

The Code of Honor.

RICHMOND, VA., July 29.—Judge Robert Ould and Dr. J. Speers George, who were arrested on the charge of being about to engage in a duel, were examined before the police court to day. The investigation showed that whatever had occurred between the parties had been fully and satisfactorily explained before their arrest, and that there was no probability of a breach of the peace. They were discharged.

A Brush with the Indians.

GALVESTON, TEXAS, July 29.—A dispatch from Ft. Davis says Major Courtney skirmished with the Indians at Salt Lake, seventy five miles west of here, on Saturday. Two soldiers were badly wounded, and ten horses were captured from the Indians.

The secretary of state announces the organization of a commissioner for both exhibitions as follows: Commissioners Oliver M. Spencer, Consul General U. S., Melbourne; Vic. T. Honorary Commissioner, Augustus Morris, Sydney, and Samuel C. Lord, Melbourne. Dr. C. C. Cox, of Washington, has been appointed secretary of the commissioners, and will sail from San Francisco on the 5th of August, and all persons having occasion, can communicate with the secretary of the commissioners, care of secretary of state, where mail will be regularly made up.

On Election Frauds.

CINCINNATI, July 29. The Congressional committee to-day examined A. H. Drew, prosecuting attorney, who testified that O. T. Francis, a private detective of Covington, Ky., had 37 men under his charge on election day, watching the polls in this city to prevent the work of Kentucky repeaters. Men were employed and paid by the Republican Campaign Committee. Witnesses stated that these men were employed on account of the experience of Republicans at the election of 1876. Mr. Girard objected to this statement. After discussion the chair decided that no specific acts of any previous election would be admissable in the testimony. Witness said his impression was that Kentucky men were placed in river wards. They were assigned by Francis in the morning. Witness did not think that any of them voted. They were probably not of the best class of Covington.

MADRID, July 29.—The Spanish government has signed a treaty of commerce with the Republic of Columbia. The cabinet yesterday decided the money appropriated by the recent act making appropriations for rivers and harbors should not be withheld. The full amount is nearly nine million dollars. It will therefore be expended this year. A warrant placing this money to the credit of the war department has passed the treasurer of the United States this afternoon.

The coinage of standard silver dollar will this month fall between $500,000 and $700,000 short of the minimum amount fixed by law $2,000,000. The monthly deficiency will be due to the fact that on the first of July the stock of silver bullion at San Francisco and Carson City mints had been so much reduced that there was nothing to commence work upon. Since then it has been impossible to procure bullion for those mints. Up to the 30th of June work was pushed forward continually at Philadelphia and New Orleans mints, so as to run coinage up to $200,000 required for that month. The mint at Philadelphia will be run night and day during August to make up the deficiency.

We have received a very neat catalogue and history of Wolfe Hall.

Mr. L. E. Johnson is delivering from six to eight tons of ice per week to the people of Manitou.

Don't fail to notice Mr. Robbins' advertisement, new in this issue, of the cracker factory and bakery in the stone block on Huerfano street.

Attention is called to the new advertisement of Mr. E. Toliver, in the Trade Directory. His tonsorial and bath rooms are fitted up very neatly.

The Denver people are still dissatisfied with the water they have to drink. It is said to be covered with oil and permeated with unpleasant substances.

Westerfield & Co. are putting a large stairway in the rear of their salesroom in order to have ready access to their large store-room on the second floor.

Mr. M. Schoonmaker will hold an open air meeting this evening in front of J. D. Faulkner's store in Colorado City, in the interest of the Y. M. C. A., at 7 o'clock.

The Rev. C. Lorimer D.D. who preached such an eloquent sermon last Sunday morning in the Baptist church, will deliver his lecture on the "Untaught Poets of Scotland" to-morrow evening, in Court House Hall. The audience-room will not be large enough to hold all that will desire to hear this lecture. The lecture is for the benefit of the Baptist church, and the price has been placed at 50 cents. The tickets are on sale at the book stores.

Two prospectors, while rambling over the mountains near the Tennessee pass, the other day came to a place where a ground hog had made quite a promising discovery of a lode. The animal in hunting for a soft place to dig, happened on a mineral vein and had dragged a quantity of the ore to the surface, which, upon being assayed, proved to contain both gold and silver. Thus it will be seen that the mania for prospecting is not confined to bipeds, but the very beasts of the field have gone into the business. Leadville Reveille.

It has been a long time since the farmers of this section have been bothered in the least by the depredations of those inveterate foes of humanity, grasshoppers. But they have at last re-appeared in large numbers down the Platte. Clouds of them have made their rendezvous upon the ranche of Deputy Sheriff Smith, a few miles down the river. An agent of the McCormick reapers and mowers who has been around in the same section of the country reports the same kind of trouble. It is to be hoped, as the harvest of grain has begun in earnest, they will be unable to do any considerable harm this season. Denver News.

Personal.

We received a pleasant call yesterday from Mr. Barney Pollock, owner of the Lily mines at Cottonwood.

Mr. J. P. Yerger, president of the Union bank at Sigourney, Iowa, with his wife and son, is visiting his brother, Capt. A Yerger, of this city.

The Hon. Robert McBratney, ex-state senator from Kansas, with his daughter is camped near Dr. T. G. Horn's. They are friends of the doctor's, and will remain some time in this locality.

Put on the Muzzle.

Three mad dogs have been shot within the last four days and the mayor has issued a proclamation which will be found in another column, requesting that all dogs found unmuzzled upon the streets of Colorado Springs during the next thirty days will be shot by the marshal. The owners of such unmuzzled dogs are also liable to be fined $5 for allowing the animals to run at large. The order is a good one and demanded by the circumstances.

Meeting of the Council.

Since writing our article entitled "Gas Jets" we have paid a visit to our city council which met last evening.

Mr. Cleary submitted his plans and location of the gas works and street mains. The location of the works at the foot of Kiowa street on the other side of the railroad was not seriously objected to.

It was required that new plans be submitted requiring a double line of main on each street seven feet from the side-walk. Mr. Cleary informed the council of the difficulties which presented themselves in laying a double line of main and endeavored to show that the streets could not be more injured by a single than by a double line. It was decided that the double line of main should be laid.

Gas Jets.

The directors of the gas company yesterday closed a contract with Mr. D. H. Irland, a respectable gas works contractor from Cincinnati, to build the necessary works and lay the pipes, and to be ready to deliver gas to all consumers on or before the first day of January, 1880. It has been but a few days since the gas question was first thought. It will probably surprise our citizens as it has ourselves, who did not expect to see gas in the city for the next five years if then, to know that we are to have the luxury of gas so soon. When such gentlemen as form this company take hold of anything they mean business, and fortunately Mr. Cleary the promotor and Mr. Irland the contractor have also meant business, and accomplished it. Mr. Cleary has certainly been indefatigable in this matter since he took it up and deserves the thanks of our citizens. What he undertakes, he is pretty sure to succeed in, and we hope other places will be as fortunate as we have been in having him to engineer matters, and that he may be always as successful as he has been here.

The thoroughgoing enterprise of the president of the gas company, and its active, energetic directors, could hardly receive sufficient commendation from our citizens. All of these directors are subscribers to the stock of the company, and give the enterprise all the moral and financial encouragment possible. Especially have Messrs. Wood, Bacon and True, through an earnest desire for the good of our city, been particularly active in this regard, and have been greatly instrumental in bringing the matter to such a speedy and successful termination. Mr. Irland has taken the greater bulk of the stock, though he invites all of our citizens to come in on the "ground floor," and he will dispose of a large part of the stock at the original cost of the works. Mr. Cleary, the secretary of the company, has charge of this branch of the business, and he invites all who wish to invest to call upon him, and he assures us that he will make most reasonable terms, especially with our citizens. The whole plan of operation will be laid before such persons, candidly discussed, and a thorough examination into the prospective success of the works invited. Mr. Cleary may be found for the present over the First National Bank, and would be happy to give all information necessary in the premises. As to Mr. Irland's business capacity, we call attention to the following extract from an article in the Gazette of Lebanon, Ohio: "The light furnished us by that gentleman is entirely satisfactory as to quality and cost. The whole city of Lebanon will recommend to the citizens of Leadville Mr. Irland as equal to the emergency and honorable and upright in all his dealings."

Toll Road Extortion.

The proprietors of the Manitou toll road to Pike's Peak have as little regard for law as they have for politeness. A doctor of divinity and an editor as well, accompanied by a party of ladies and gentlemen was compelled to pay a dollar per capita to pass over and return on the lower trail. When the gate keeper was informed that the county commissioners had reduced the lawful toll to half a dollar this accommodating gentleman replied: "I don't care a ——— what the law is, I own this trail and you've got to pay what I charge." We are inclined to think that a little prosecution would do this rapacious toll company good.

Mosquito Pass Carbonates.

The Leadville Reveille has the following concerning the new discoveries: "Mining circles in this locality have just been thrown into a furore through the rich finds of carbonate deposits in the vicinity of Mosquito Pass. Prospectors, miners and capitalists in their enthusiasm are fast crowding over to the new district. Other localities are either opening up or giving big promise of immense finds within the near future. Ominous hints are made as to rich placer discoveries. In this connection it is safe to predict that more silver and gold will be taken from this section within the next five years than will be obtained from the entire product of the state of Nevada, which has so long had an undisputed prestige for her extended mineral wealth."

PITKIN CITY PRINCES.

They Begin to Talk of Brown Stone Fronts on Nevada Avenue.

From the regular correspondent of the GAZETTE.

PITKIN CITY, July 19. After writing my letter last week, I began to think, perhaps, that I had put it too strong in speaking of the richness of the ores, and of the mineral wealth of this district, but the developments made this week bear me out in all I said. Every day we hear of new strikes, and so far as have seen and heard, every miner on reaching the solid vein-matter finds himself in possession of unexpected wealth. Not a barren vein has been found, or a vein of low grade ore. Every lode and every piece of ore contains brittle silver, or perhaps more properly called, antimonial silver.

Among the strikes which were made during the present week was the Bullion King mine. This mine is one-half mile southwest of the Ruby Chief mine. On the very surface it showed a solid ore vein 15 inches in thickness which it is thought will run 2,000 ounces in silver to the ton. Where this vein is opened it is crossed by a small stream, which has cut it down a few feet below the original surface, or the sand-stone cap with which most of the veins are covered. The same is true of and only of the Ruby Chief and of the Ruby King, now so noted for their rich ores. From this we may safely conclude that many more veins will produce equally rich ores when the same depth below the cap is reached in them. I was shown a piece of ore of several pennyweights, taken from the Bullion King by the first blast, which I judged to be one-half brittle silver which indicates a value of from six to ten thousand ounces of silver to the ton.

A small piece of float was found some distance south of the Ruby King mine which assayed 1,000 ounces; and afterwards the vein from which it came, from which much richer appearing ore has been taken, but no assays had.

Wire silver is now found in several of the mines, and in the Ruby Chief, where first seen, in increasing quantity as greater depth is gained. I was shown a piece of ore found two miles east of this, the crystals of which were so nearly pure silver that they would bend before breaking.

I have given these special items in regard to the richness of the ores in proof of the richness of the mines.

A happier lot of miners than are now found in this district could not be. Ask any one of them, unless it be one who has just arrived, and the answer is almost invariably to the effect "I have all I want." With them, as with mankind the world over, their wants differ in degree. Some have but a single claim, or an interest in a claim, and yet with the happiest of smiles say "I have all I want," while others did not reach that state of felicity until they had their stakes on a half dozen lodes.

A number are now preparing to mine and ship ore. If there was a market near by there would be a large product taken from this district the present year, but as it is, few are able to send out their first lot.

It is reported that there are a number of prospectors as far as three or four miles south of this, but I have heard nothing as to their success. It is not at all unlikely that the lodes extend even further in that direction, as the country rock is the same.

I have on exhibition a lump of the anthracite coal found two miles southwest of this. Finer appearing coal I never saw, although it is but from the outcroppings. The vein is five feet in thickness.

Among the arrivals of the week were: Col. E. T. Ensign, Henry Payton, William Hurst, J. C. Pierce, of the Mountaineer, W. H. Converse, H. M. Scott, and H. R. Jenkins, from Colorado Springs. The first four only got in last evening. Ensign, Hurst and Payton were out prospecting this morning, and set stakes on four claims, and are already talking of brown stone fronts on Nevada avenue. Their claims are as promising as any in the district.

A tri-weekly mail has been established to Crested Butte, W. H. Nickols, of the Northwestern Stage Co., contractor. I failed to learn the route, or of the other points reached. I shall now get my GAZETTE letter distributed in regard to time.

The Iowa Smelting Company have now all the machinery for their smelter on the ground, and expect to be in operation shortly.

It is believed by men of experience in the manipulation of ores that the best method of treating the ores of this district would be by stamps and concentrators. Much of the ore as it comes from the mine is of higher grade than it is possible to make lead bullion without great loss of silver.

Concerning Cattle.

The Denver Republican prints the following items of news of interest to cattle men:—"Intelligence has reached us that abundant showers along the Arkansas are improving the range considerably. The rains which have visited this vicinity recently seem to have extended throughout the eastern portion of the state, and are a great boon to stockmen at the present time. We learn of the entire extinction of the cattle disease which appeared in Douglas county, and no apprehension need be felt in regard to cattle coming from that section.

Colonel John Hittson received 1,500 Texas through cattle a few days since in fine condition.

At the forthcoming St. Louis fair it is expected that the exhibition of thoroughbred cattle will be the finest ever made, or at least, this is the opinion of the papers of that town. The breeds that will be most numerously exhibited are shorthorn, Jerseys and Herefords, and these will be brought directly from England, for exhibition. Some of the Black Polled cattle from Scotland, and Ayrshires and Holstein's, will also be shown.

We learn of a number of Colorado ranchmen who are making preparations to feed cattle during the winter, for the early spring markets. Several hundred head were fed in Boulder and Weld counties last winter to good advantage, and from present prospects it is probable that enough will be fed to supply the spring markets.

Fun at Cabinet Meetings.

On Tuesdays and Fridays, says the Washington Star, there are cabinet meetings. The members of the cabinet drop in one by one, but they are all on hand by 12 o'clock. Each member brings his portfolio. The president sits at the head of the table and Secretary Schurz at the foot; on the right next to the president is the secretary of state, next to him the secretary of war, and beyond him the postmaster general. On the left next to the president sits the secretary of the treasury, the next to him the secretary of navy, and next to the secretary of the interior on that side the attorney general. After the cabinet meets it is ten or fifteen minutes before the members get to work. That ten minutes are taken up in greetings and off hand talk, in which the spirit of fun and humor crops out a good deal. The cabinet are all men with a sunny fun-loving side when out of official harness. Judge Key is perhaps the jolliest, though the attorney general pushes him hard in that distinction. Secretary Thompson is a proverbial lover of a pleasant joke, while Secretary Schurz is hardly equalled in telling one. Secretary McCrary is a good story teller. Secretary Sherman does not indulge in humor often, but when he does, it is, on account of its unexpected character, the more enjoyable. Secretary Evarts is one of those of the quietly humorous sort. His fund of dry humor and wit is inexhaustible, and though not uproarious is keenly enjoyable.

The president has probably the heartiest cabinet that any president ever assembled around him. The old bores who keep at them day by day are unmercifully dealt with by the heads of the departments when they assemble. The attorney general seems to take a peculiar delight in joking Secretary Thompson. At a recent cabinet meeting the naval secretary took with him a list of midshipmen who had passed their examinations. The secretary called attention to them, and said he would like to have their nominations for promotion to ensigns sent to the senate as soon as possible, "as they are worthy young men who have thoroughly earned their spurs." "Mr. Thompson," interrupted Mr. Devens, "how long since have they been wearing spurs in the navy?" At a later meeting the attorney general announced that there was a story afloat of a character so derogatory to the inland marine secretary that it ought to be met. Judge Key called out, "Let's have it!" "It was when he was first made secretary of the navy," proceeded Judge Devens willingly. "A committee from the navy yard invited him to go down on a visit of inspection. He was taken through the different shops and works, and finally on board a man-of-war which was lying at the wharf. After being shown over the different parts of the ship, the captain stopped by the hatchway, and asked the secretary to look down. Thompson took a look of some length, and finally exclaimed: 'My goodness! the darned old thing's hollow.' The naval secretary bore the bantering with equanimity, and remarked that the joke was a good one in its prime, but now had an ancient and fish-like smell.

After this ten minutes of boy play before school, the president calls the meeting to order. The regular business is taken up, the secretary of state leading off with his budget. The discussion is conducted in a conversational way. The meetings generally last about two hours.

Old English Laws and Modern French Actresses.

Mlle. Sarah Bernhardt, the distinguished French actress, coming across the channel to act plays at the houses of the nobility and connoisseurs for hire. The Solicitors' Journal says that, under the statute, she is possibly liable to a penalty of £10 for every such representation, such a penalty being denounced against "every person who, for hire, shall act any part in any stage play, in any place not being a patent theatre or duly licensed as a theatre." Such seems to have been the effect attributed to the statute by Justice Blackburn and by Baron Bramwell, although the latter judge suggested that the "hire which the act contemplated as a necessary constituent of the offense must be a hire received from the spectators." The difficulty is easily evaded by stipulating to pay the artist her honorarium and indemnity her against penalties. We do not know whether a sculptor is obliged to be licensed in England, but if so, then the all-accomplished lady, who proposes, during her dramatic representations, to model busts of her entertainers, must take out a sculptor's license. Perhaps, also, she will render herself amenable to the penalty for profane swearing. Albany Law Journal.

Perplexities of English Titles.

A writer in Temple Bar thus illustrates some of the perplexities of English titles: "Suppose the Lady Mary Smith, as earl's daughter, marries the Lord John Jones, a duke's younger son. The bridegroom is of higher rank than the bride, who therefore becomes the Lady John Jones, taking his rank; but if she rejects Lord John and marries Lord George Brown instead, whose father is only a marquis, then she will be of the higher rank, and will retain her maiden designation, Lady Mary becoming Lady Mary Brown, just as if her husband were an honorable, or a baronet, or commoner of any kind. If, however, our supposed Lady Mary Smith, instead of giving her hand to either of the younger sons mentioned above, aspire to a colonet and marry a baron, she will actually lose rank in one sense, for she will rank as a baroness, who is lower than an earl's daughter. This loss of conventional rank is supposed to be fully compensated by the superior dignity 'which doth hedge' an actual peeress. A similar anomaly exists in the case of an English bishopric being accepted by a clergyman who is by birth of higher rank than a bishop. For, unless he is a viscount, or a temporal peer of some higher grade still, he takes rank, on entering the House of Lords, as a bishop, that is, as a senior baron. Hence, Lord Arthur Hervey, the son of a marquis, lost rank, technically speaking, upon taking his seat as Bishop of Bath and Wells, since a marquis's younger son is higher than a bishop. And, anomalous as it may seem, his wife is now of higher rank than herself, though deriving her rank from him; for his lordship ranks as a bishop, or senior baron, while her ladyship ranks as the wife of a marquis's younger son, a bishop's rank not being communicable to his wife.

"Another anomaly may be noticed here, viz., the case of a lady who marries a lord of lower rank than herself, when he is an eldest son bearing, by courtesy, his father's second title. In this case the lady would gain no compensation as a peeress by sharing her husband's rank, and therefore, in accordance with the usual principle that ladies are allowed to retain after marriage any higher rank which they have previously enjoyed, she is known by her husband's courtesy title, exactly as if it were a surname, her own Christian name being placed before it. Thus Viscount Sandon, an earl's eldest son, married a marquis's daughter, who is not styled 'Viscountess Sandon,' but 'the Lady Mary Sandon.' If the married pair are of equal rank it is usual for the lady to share her husband's rank, instead of insisting upon displaying her own."

A Sign-Painter's Invention.

A woman who opened a small millinery store in the western part of the city, says the Detroit Free Press, engaged a painter to paint her a sign. When it came home the other day she saw that it read: "Mrss. J. Blank," etc., and she called, "You have got an extra 's' in Mrs., and you must paint the sign over again." The painter saw the error, but he did not want the job of correcting it. And he replied: "Madam, haven't you had two husbands?" "Yes, sir." "You were a Mrs. when you lost the first?" "I was." "And do you think a woman can go on marrying forever and not lengthen out her title? Mrs. means a married woman or a widow—Mrss. means a woman who has been married twice; and if you get a third husband, and only yesterday a rich old coon was in our shop and said if he had any idea that you were heart free he'd come up—" "Oh, well, you can nail up the sign," she interrupted. And it is there to-day.

A Khedive with Only One Wife.

Strange to relate, the new Khedive, Tewfik I., is an upright, honest fellow as upright and honest as it seems possible for an Egyptian prince to be. He is twenty years old, tall and handsome, with a frank, open demeanor, an accomplished horseman, and a scholar. Indeed, he is hardly interested in anything but study, and he used, previously to his accession, to teach personally a score or two of swarthy scapegraces who attended a school erected in the garden of his palace at Koubé, near Cairo. He has only one wife, and lives entirely in the European guise. Will all this last? London Truth.

JOB WORK

Facilities for Plain and Fancy Job Printing equal to those of any establishment west of the Missouri river.

No engine was wrecked yesterday.

Texas contains 5,000 refugees from justice among which are eight hundred and fifty-one murderers.

In adjourning over the 4th of July, the Texas senate rejected the expression "Great national republic" and substituted "Great federal republic." This is a bad case of state's rights.

A careful examination of the state records show that six republicans served to one democrat. This is a good offset to the fact that a soldier heads the democratic state ticket and a civilian the republican.

In his speech to working men in Chicago Colonel Daniel held that "two hours a day is long enough to work," that "machinery is a curse" and that "the time is coming when labor shall hire capital instead of capital hiring labor." The worst feature about the speech is that it was applauded.

Secretary Schurz will speak in Ohio during the campaign. Much as certain republicans may sneer at the secretary, it was his influence in the famous campaign of 1875 which won over the German vote to Hayes and elected him. His influence may not be so much needed this year, but will avail at least to greatly increase the republican majority.

Congressman Weaver, of Iowa, known as "Calamity" Weaver for his discouraging views of the condition of the country, is so discouraged at the success of resumption that he is now wishing for the destruction of every grain of wheat in Iowa. He sees that without this the Greenback party is ruined. We admire his judgement in this one respect if not his humanity.

The Freeman's Journal and Catholic Register says that "the Prince of Wales, his three (?) brothers—the Duke of Edinburgh, the Duke of Connaught and the Duke of Cambridge knelt with bowed heads at the consecration of the host during the requiem mass for the Prince Imperial at the Roman Catholic chapel at Chiselhurt. Surely this is knocking the bottom out of England's Protestantism." It is nothing of the kind. The members of the royal family, by their attitude of reverence during this service, simply showed that they were gentlemen. A gentleman would take off his hat in the presence of a Hindoo worshiping his idol.

Hosea is for Sherman. F. B. Sanborn in a letter to the Springfield Republican, speaking of the effect of Sherman's recent visit says "the coming of Sherman has set the sherman boom in lively motion, and the Grant boom for the moment is nowhere. Talks with business men the past few days and with some of the few politicians about town to-day show that many influential republican business men look kindly on his candidacy, and that the politicians see in him already a strong man, and have their weather eye out accordingly. After the magnetism of his presence is off the sentiment may change. But to-day Boston business men who train with the republicans are largely Sherman men."

JUDGE HALLETT'S DECISION IN MAY.

In May last, when the solicitors of the D. & R. G. Co. were asking Judge Hallett for the execution of the mandates of the U. S. Supreme court in the Grand Canon case, Judge Hallett delivered an opinion which may be of some interest to those who are watching this case. Judge Hallett first required that the part of the supplemental bill in the Grand Canon suit, making the Santa Fe Co. a party, should be stricken out before he allowed the bill to be filed. He then said substantially that the lease was between the Rio Grande Co. and Santa Fe Co. The agreements which accompany it were between the officers of these organizations as individuals, but they were dependent upon and auxiliary to the lease, and can only be regarded as the acts of the Rio Grande Co. so far as by ratification they become part of the lease. As to everything beyond that these agreements were the acts of individuals, not adopted by the companies and not binding certainly upon the Rio Grande. If it be conceded that in the lease and agreements there is a concession by the Rio Grande of a right to somebody to build the road up the Arkansas it is a concession not to the Pueblo and Arkansas Valley but to the Atchison Co. If there were a promise by the Rio Grande to allow the Pueblo and Arkansas Valley to build this road, made evidently for the advantage of the Pueblo Co., that company might perhaps avail itself of it but he did not interpret these agreements as appointing it so that, but as containing admission merely of right of some one to build these lines, and that admission is made to one, who, for want of corporate capacity, could not act upon that admission. Mere voluntary admission to a third party without consideration is of no validity unless acted upon and accepted. With the Rio Grande constantly contesting this right it is impossible to say that such action was made, or that there was any admission binding upon them. As to the claim that after the appeals the Rio Grande adopted a new line he could not attach much importance to that. They were still pressing an appeal and in such circumstances it cannot be said that the party abandoned the first claims.

THE VICTORIES AND GREATNESS OF ENGLAND.

England's victories, terminating one war after another—victories diplomatic and military—are constantly making her greatness and power more apparent. Next to our own national success and progress, this gives us satisfaction. To some this may sound queerly, for Americans, not a few, incited by events which have caused us Two wars with Great Britian, cherish an honest hostility to that country; and many others have cultivated that hatred for political effects, especially where the Irish vote was large. We belong to neither class. It may be that England erred the pay of an unnatural mother a century ago; but we do not forget that she is our mother still. She is the head of the Anglo-Saxon race who, for centuries, have steadily moved on to freedom in politics and religion—to pre-eminence and dominancy in the world, by education, science, industry, and commerce.

All must admit that next to the United States Great Britain is the most free and best governed nation or empire on the face of the earth, and the human race would more suffer by its degradation or loss than by the same events happening to any other of the great powers of Europe. Russia is absolute and barbarous, Asiatic, and scarcely deserves a place in Europe, in the nineteenth century. Austria might cease to-day and liberty and right lose nothing by the change that would follow. France, a republic, has less freedom than England, less stability of race, less historic assurance for the world, and is totally unfit to influence and lead aright distant peoples by colonization. Nor has Germany the great power of that continent big-brained and strong-armed Germany, the force or destiny that belong to Great Britain; and when the latter was victor in the Berlin congress, in settling the eastern question, the advantage gained by Beaconsfield was a victory for the world.

The Anglo-Saxon is the modern Roman to him, to our race, is given the dominion of the earth—its conquests, its colonization, its liberation, its education, its moral elevation. To-day, on all the continents, we are fulfilling that high mission, bringing men to self government, the freedom of established law, the morality springing from the sovereignty of individual conscience, and a nearness to God in overcoming the accidents that surround us. If anywhere America does this, England does it; if England, America does it; since in all the essentials of race, religion and government, we are one people, having lived the same life and having before us the same future.

Just now we have news of a decisive English victory over the Zulus of South Africa, gained July 4th. It will end in the annexation of more territory and more people to the British Empire. Somebody may say that the war is unjust and the end cruel. This is ever said when the more civilized overcome and supplant the barbarous. The buffalo might make the same complaint when he is driven from the plains by the ox: the worm when he is eaten by the bird. We'll not try the case by the schoolman's commentaries on the Decalogue or the sermon on the mount. We do not so treat the Indian question, which is similar. As the red man disappears before the civilized pale face, we say it is destiny; and inevitable destiny it is, argue as we will. The end we knew to be in favor of order, civilization and the greater good of a greater number. So in the struggle between the Englishman and the Zulus, it will redeem the land to a higher life, and incorporate the barbarian into an empire where interest will be to raise him in the scale of being. This conquest advances England on a continent dark and dreary, any people of which would gain by a like event, and probably within a century every one, from the Nile-mouth to the southernmost cape, will come beneath the British crown, which already has surrounded Africa with naval and military forces and colonies.

Equally beneficent is her presence in Asia, where she rules an Indian empire of 160,000,000 people, exceeded in population by China alone; and where, this very year she has won most important advantages in Afghanistan, as last year she did in Turkey and by the acquisition of Cyprus. She is now mistress of more territory in Asia than was controlled by Alexander, when he wept that there were no other worlds for him to conquer. Empress of India, conqueror of Afghanistan, protectress of Turkey, Queen of Cyprus and Malta is Regina Victoria, whose fame as a christian woman and a ruler wiser than the Queen of Sheba in the time of Solomon fills the world.

The effects of British rule in Canada, the West Indies, Australia, New Zealand and all others of the forty provinces of an empire on which the sun never sets, and whose twilight guns, as Daniel Webster said, echo around the globe, are the same. One of her judges declared that a slave could not breath the air of England, that he was disenthralled of the genius of British liberty as soon as he touched her soil; so we may say that Great Britain herself doesn't touch any other land, but she carries thereto emancipation from evils and all the rights which belong to manhood.

I will not be overlooked. Our posterity, if forgotten by ourselves, that in the forty years of Queen Victoria's reign has been more growth to England than in any other forty years since Alfred began to rule. She has outlived every crowned head filling a throne when she was called to power, and no reign has been so prosperous and glorious as hers. To-day her kingdom or empire stands higher and stronger than any other since history began. When her record is made up, should no great disaster befall her hereafter, it will be more resplendant with triumphs in peace, and victories in war, and progress in all that contributes to human happiness and freedom than that of any Eastern, Roman, or modern European ruler. The conquests of the Cæsars and the glory of the Napoleons pale before the fame of this woman, who is greater and has been more fortunate than them all. To us, therefore, since it is for human good, comes joy at the successes that crown her arms in Afghanistan and Zululand.

The crystal waters of the Colonwood River, abundant with trout, come dashing and sparkling down past the door of the Sanitarium from its fountain head, the eternal beds of snow which cap the hoary old mountain.

AIKEN'S
MUSEUM.
The Best Place to procure Relics and Curiosities as Souvenirs in Colorado.

Mr. Aiken is a naturalist in high standing throughout the United States and a Taxidermist of large experience and artistic talent. He has on exhibition and for sale a large assortment of mounted heads of our characteristic game animals for wall ornaments; also mounted birds, mineral specimens, cut and polished native stones, mineral baskets, floral collections and various curiosities. He is the manufacturer of the celebrated or fur mats, prepared from nicely tanned skins of our native antelope, cut in the usual shape of the skin, with the mounted head and the tail intact. Thrown upon the floor or a room or over the back of an easy chair they are highly attractive and ornamental, and being so novel and unique in style of carriage, they meet with general favor among tourists wishing keepsakes of the country.
